Zylberglait

Alex Zylberglait said he makes it a point to balance his career and family life. Whether he is making plans to increase his personal market share in Miami office investment sales to exceed $150 million or continuing to support the transition of his parents to their new life in South Florida, Zylberglait pursues goals fervently.

The first goal shouldn't seem to out of reach. Zylberglait, who this year placed among the top investment brokers in the Miami office of Marcus & Millichap, generated more $60 million in commercial property investment.

Equally important, Zylberglait spent the year volunteering with the Jewish Federation of Greater Miami, American Jewish Committee and is also active in Junior Achievement of Miami.

When he isn't cutting deals or volunteering, Zylberglait is an adjunct professor of real estate for the graduate school of hospitality management at Florida International University.

And there's one more goal Zylberglait hopes to reach this coming year: "I want to start a family with someone special."
