Port Charlotte is an affluent community located along the Gulf Coast at the north end of the Charlotte Harbor Estuary, northwest of the city of Punta Gorda, and about halfway between Sarasota and Fort Myers. The population is 59,654 with the county having a population of 178,465. Port Charlottes relatively low cost of living and doing business compared to other Gulf Coast markets have made it a popular destination for both tourists and retirees. U.S. News & World Report and Forbes named Port Charlotte among the 25 best places in the United States to retire in 2015. Tourism is the areas primary economic sector.

Port Charlotte has had strong economic momentum including one of the nation's best population growth rates. Population growth in Charlotte County was roughly three times the national average over the past year. Job growth has also been a bright spot, accelerating over the past year to just under 3% or roughly twice the national average. This also placed Port Charlotte among Florida's highest job growth markets, though in third place among the SW Florida markets. This is a reflection of the strength of the region as a whole, boasting three of the state's top six job growth markets
